THE MARKETS.

A Weak Opening Was Accelerated by Unfavorable Reports of Passed Dividends.

NEW YORK, June 3.-The share market opened weak and lower this morning, and prices declined # to 17 per cent. Central Pacific fell off 17 to 427; New York Central, 17 to 1061; Union Pacific, 18 to 45; Missouri Pacific, 1 to 833; Northern Pacific, & to 48k; Louisville and Nashville, ? to 35; Delaware and Lackawanna, 4 to 1028; Lake Shore, 4 to 864, and Western Union, 2 to 614. Reading, however, opened 1 per cent. higher, at 24; fell off to 236, and rose to 25. The early decline was accelerated by stories that the Michigan Central and Canada Southern dividends would be passed and the Lake Shore dividend reduced to 1½ per cent. quarterly. The reports subsequently received official denial from the representatives of the Vanderbils interest, and prices rose ½ to 3½ per cent. the latter in Michigan Central, which sold ap to 735. Near midday prices ran off fractionally, but soon recovered. Subsequently a weaker feeling provailed, and a general decline took place. This was succeeded by good buying and a buoyant tone, some shares advancing to the best figures of the day. In the afterneon there were general realizations, and the bears made an attack on the market, resulting in a decline of ½ to 2½ per cent.

At the close there was a raily of ½ to ½ per cent. in some shares, but the market left of off to 237, and rose to 25. The early decline legal complications.

Railway bonds were strong and higher in the early dealing, but closed weak. There is seemlerable short interest in Missouri Patron and the complete strong and the complete stro seonsiderable short interest in Missouri Pa-cific and Vanderbilts, and coal properties. The bears argue that Reading's default must, have a bad effect abroad. The bulls say the receivership will be beneficial to the coal combinations in their bands. Reading will be subservient to the requirements of the united interest of all the others. The London market for American securi-ties consed vary strong, with few exceptions.

The London market for American securities opened very strong, with few exceptions. Reading broke 2 per cent on the appointment of receivers, and Pennsylvania declined ½. The rest of the list shows advances of ½ to 3½. New York Central advanced 1%; Illinois Central, ½; St. Paul, 3½; Canada Pacific, ½; Central Pacific, ½; Lako Store, 1% payment of the dividend on Jersey Central was suspended this morning pending instructions from the receiver. The National Savings bank required thirty days' notice from depositors this merning, and the crowd dispersed. S. V. Hill says the stock market is somewhat heavier than during the earlier trading, and that it is probable it will sell off, as a reaction is but natural. It would be detrimental to the bulls to jump prices too addenly. There is no fear of a serious decline, denly. There is no fear of a scrious decline, as many properties are cheap, notwithstanding that the short interest is largely covered. There were no special features in cotton trading to-day. Members paid more attention to the result of the exchange offices election than to anything else. The cotton situation is practically unchanged since Monday's clos-

HALTIMORE STOCK MARKET. Baltimons, June 3.—Virginia 6s, deferred, 7; forth Carolina 6s, old, 106 bid to-day.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR. How He is Regarded in Garfield's Old Neighborhood.

Toledo Blade. President Arthur has been in office now nearly three years. He came to the place under circumstances where success seemed almost impossible ; circumstances so peculiar that he would have not been dealt harshly with by history had he made a complete failure. He came into the presdency by the murder of a president under whose brief administration the party which elected him became hopelessly divided. He inherited a fight which was not of his making, and with-out the material for attack or defense which the dead president had in his hands. There the dead president had in his hands. There was disorder so hopeless in the republican ranks that failure, and a bad failure, seemed inevitable, and to add to the troubles that beset him there were not lacking those unscrupulous enough to accuse him and his friends of being accessory to the murder of Garfield, in the interest of the faction of which he was charged with being a part.

As desperate as was the situation he over-came it. He healed the feud which existed in New York, he required the warring fac-tions in that state to the satisfaction of both, and without humiliating either, and he made it possible for the republican party to carry it, the one essential to a republican success in Navanhar.

so much as a partisan. As a chief magistrate his success has been even greater. He has given the country an administration which has been without spot or stain. The country nover had a purer, better govern-ment, so far as a presidential action could do it. Plunderers have been uncarthed and run down, the finances have been closely watched, down, the finances have been closely watched, the foreign policy of the government has been whe and dignified, and his recommendations have been uniformly safe and progressive. His administration has been judicious from first to last, and the best business interests of the country are more than satisfied with it.

It is to his credit that he has resisted the temptation to do anything in the skyrocket way. Most men under the circumstances would have attempted something brilliant with which to dassle the public, but with a patriotism that thinking men should appreciate, he rested his claim for public approval upon a pure, clean administration of public affairs. This is not the least item to his credit side.

It should be also remembered that President Arthur made his mark long before he dent Arthur made his mark long before he had "Honorable" affixed to his name. When it was social and political death to be an antiit was social and political death to be an anti-slavery man he was an uncompromising one. When a practicing lawyer he defended fugi-tive slaves at a personal sacrifice, and with-out fee or reward. After emancipation he was the first to insist upon the rights of the colored people of New York to equal privileges with the whites, championing them upon the platform and in the courts. In the interest of the party of freedom and progress, he has been always active and progress he has been always active, and always in the van, where more blows than rewards were to be received, and through the whole of an active life there has never the whole of an active life there has never been a spot or stain attached to his name. He was eminently a man of action, and was always in the advance, and that at times when defeat meant destruction.

Faithful as a citizen, faithful as a partisan, faithful as a citizen, faithful as a partisan, faithful as a President, we submit that it is the rankest possible injustice to treat him at this time as though it were presumption for his friends to urge him for the presidency. We submit that in the advocacy of the claims of others, the fight against him should be made, not belittling his claims to the confidence of the people, but by demonstrating the superior fitness of his competitors. This is only justice.

the superior fitness of his competitors. This is only justice.

We do not say that the nomination of President Arthur is the best that can be made. We do not say that he can poll more votes than any other aspirant for the position. If he cannot it would, in the present condition of things, be criminal to nominate him. Our republicanism is broad enough to enable us to support Blaine, Edmunds, Sherman, Logan, Lincoln, or any one of the true republicans who have been mentioned in conrepublicans who have been mentioned in con-nection with the high office. We want that man nominated who is the most certain of success. But we protest against the methods being used against the President. It is bad being used against the Fresident. It is but policy to permit a preference for one sepirant to put one in a position not to be able to give hearty support to another. President Arthur will give the nomines of the Chicage convention his hearty support, whoever he may be. We shall need the support of the friends of all the candidates to elect the successful one, and it is had policy to so conduct cessful one, and it is bad policy to so conduct the preliminary campaign as to leave bad blood to rankle after the real struggle begins. At this particular time it is well to go very slow in the discussion of candidates.

THE GEORGIA PHENOMENON.

Miss Lula Hurst Exhibits Her Extraordinary Powers to Wondering Colum-

Columbia (S. C.) Register. The Columbia public have heard and read of the wonderful power at the command of the now famous Miss Lula Hurst, of Georgia. This young lady, who is apparently "sweet sixteen," has a very pleasant face, and is of sixteen," has a very pleasant face, and is of admirable contour, but displays no muscular power superiar to others of her sex, and as she appeared upon the stage at the opera house last night no one would have dreamed that she could push and twirl stalwart men at her pleasure.

A number of prominent citizens were invited to the stage to witness the performance, and yet others to take part therein. Ago and youth, strength and grip, weight and endurance, skepticism, and, we had almost said credulity, were represented on the stage. The assortment of mind and muscle was as wonderful as the phenomenon. Miss Hurst placed har hand upon a billiard muscic was as wonderful as the phenomenon.

Miss iturat placed her hand upon a billiard cue, while a gentleman held it with visolike grip, and in a moment he would be dancing about the floor, while Miss Hurst, with no apparent effort, would drive him all over the stage. She held the cue, and several gentlemen made futile efforts to force one end of it to the floor. She held an open umbrolla in her hand while a gentleman held the handle with both hands, and in a fow moments Miss Hurst would have him cavorting over the stage, and finally forced him behind the wings. This she repeated with several gentlemen. Miss Hurst held a chair with one hand and gave a number of gentlemen repeated trials to force it to the floor, in which they invariably failed, but when one, two, and three gentlemen would held the chair Miss Hurst would with one band and recommend the stage with an air of confidence which made the audience feel that Miss Hurst had met her match, but she twirled him over and off the stage with marvelous case, and apparently

STATESMEN SWAPPING CARAMELS.

Whatever else may be said of Mr. Conkling, it cannot fairly be asserted that he permits himself to be curione in courtery. Having had a handsome compliment paid him in Mr. Blaine's book, not to speak of the insertion of his picture, he takes occasion to remark of "that person," as he used to call the accomplished gentleman from Maine, that he is "a man of great talents and great abilities, has rendered the party distinguished service, and is justly entitled to credit." It is pleasant to see two long alienated statesmen, or exstatesmen, swapping caramels in such a gracious and generous way.

We think we understand why Henry Villard does not return to journalism. As it is conducted at present in New York there is no such thing as failure in journalism. When the journalistic standard of Gotham reaches up toward the western standard a good many publications which appear to be pros-perous now may meet their deserts; but un-til that time arrives Mr. Villard will proba-bly stick to a line of business in which he can fail advantageously.

If the New York Graphic's picture of Ferdinand Ward correctly delineates that gentleman's physiognomy, he bears a close resemblance to our own, our native Frank James.

The striking similarity between his banking methods and those of the distinguished Missourian is containly unquestionable, though sourian is certainly unquestionable, though it is doubtful if he will succeed in justifying himself by such a happy knack in the use of the alibi.
